

REMARKS

The Office Action mailed April 27, 2006, has been carefully considered. In response thereto, the present application is considered to be in condition for allowance. Accordingly, reconsideration and withdrawal of the Office Action and issuance of a Notice of Allowance are respectfully solicited in view of the following remarks.

Claims 1-31 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) over Hall et al in view of Kuykendall. Since that ground of rejection relies on Elliott to overcome a deficiency in the combination of Hall et al and Kuykendall, the Applicant will treat the rejection as having been made over Hall et al in view of Kuykendall and of Elliott. Also, claims 1-31 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) over Elliott. For the reasons set forth below, the Applicant respectfully traverses both grounds of rejection.

Both grounds of rejection rely on Elliott for teaching of the step of queuing the vehicle at the pick up location in accordance with the tag identification number. However, Elliott does not actually teach or suggest that step. Instead, Elliott teaches a single drive-through lane 308. Thus, the queuing takes place independently of the tag identification number, and queuing in accordance with the tag identification number would be meaningless.

None of the applied references teaches or suggests a step of queuing the vehicle at the pick up location in accordance with the tag identification number. That features offers advantages over the prior art in that it accommodates vehicles with pre-orders as well as vehicles with AVI tags that have not pre-ordered, and can direct AVI-equipped vehicles around long order and payment queues. That limitation is not found in the references, either singly or combined, nor is this type of system in use, even at present, but could be a good way to speed up orders, more capable than the applied references singly or combined, yet much simpler than Hall et al.

Therefore, the Applicant respectfully submits that the present claimed invention is not anticipated by any of the applied references and would not have been obvious over any combination of the applied references.

For the reasons set forth above, the Applicant respectfully submits that the application is in condition for allowance. Notice of such allowance is respectfully solicited.

If there remain any questions which can be solved most easily through a telephone communication, the Examiner is invited to telephone the undersigned at the telephone number set forth below.
